Assignment -Module1

Question 1: What is software?

Answer: Software is set of instructions, procedures and programs that is associated with operation of computer. It is also used to do specific tasks.

Question 2: What are the types of applications?

Answer: It is used in scientific and numeric computing, game development, graphical user interface, machine learning, Image processing application, console-based applications etc.

Question 3: What is programming?

Answer: It refers to technological process which is meant for collaboration between human and computer and it is composition of sequence of instructions.

Question 4: What is python?

Answer: Python is used to build website, compute, or analyze tasks.It is supportive language for build control and management, testing and in many other ways.